Project #1:*Company: CoforgeProject: Stellar and Agency Portal PlatformRole: Backend and Frontend.Environment: Java, MySQL, JavaScript, JQuery, HTML, CSS, BootStrap, Thymeleaf.

Project Description: Stellar is a project for a channel in which the deals related to advertisements on various linear and online platforms are done by various advertising agencies representing various brands. It includes the processes such as agreement, spot booking, analytics, and revenue management.

Stellar is a windows based application that was developed in 2000s and managed till now which is also a parent project to two separate projects i.e. K2 Homepage and Agency Portal Platform.

I am associated with the project “Agency Portal Platform” which gives modern platform to some of the existing stellar components on a web based application. Stellar and Agency Portal Platform are linked using Mule.

It eases various advertising agencies to manage their spot bookings and generate efficient spots for their advertisements as earlier the procedure through stellar was quite complex.

It can generate analytical data based on the ratings or viewership provided by a third party, based on which agencies choose their spots. It manages the agencies to book spots for television and the online platforms as well based on the analytics.

Responsibilities:

- Participating as required in client facings aspects of new implementation and development.
- Involved in requirement gathering, designing, feasibility, analysis, and documentation at best possible solution.
- Involved in finalizing the solution provided to the client for end-to-end integration with best practices.
- Developing POC's for the components used for feasibility and integration prospective and fine tuning them.
- Played an active role in overall project objectives decisions of technical improvements.

DECLARATION
